In regards to the authentic tag of ones made by Handicraft Company:

The tags produced up to now are the tags shown on the left. The authentic tag has a hole in it with a string passing through it. However, in the future the new authentic Bojobo Doll tag that will be produced is the tag shown on the right. There is no hole and it is enclosed in a bag. That means that from now on the new tags to be produced will all be like the ones shown on the right and enclosed. Also, there is a possibility that, depending on the color and when they were produced, some may have either tag attached. In any case, which ever tag it is, rest assured that they are the real thing.
